MONARCH AMBASSADOR INCOME ETF | TRADE RATIONALE

November 9, 2022

Dear Shareholder,

On Monday, November 7th, the Monarch Ambassador Income ETF (MAMB) made allocation changes to reflect updates made to the Kingsview Ambassador Income Index that the Fund seeks to track.

As we wind down the final two months of a tumultuous 2022, it seems fitting that economic data variance is yet again on the rise as the steep interest rate hikes from the Federal Reserve begin to make their impact on the economy. Major data points across the economy like consumer spending, company earnings reports, and currency fluctuations are feeling the hard-hitting effects of the aggressive Fed rate hikes. The last bastion to seemingly withstand this constrictive monetary policy phase has been the employment market. A typical stronghold in the Fund's valuation process of the U.S. economy, employment has remained resilient in the face of challenging factors troubling the economic landscape.

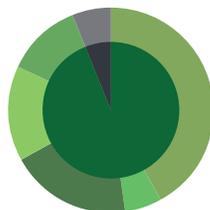

For informational purposes only. Not a recommendation to purchase or sell individual holdings. Allocations subject to change without notice.

While employment data is by nature a lagging indicator, it is somewhat dubious to think that the Fed's work is almost done if there has yet to be an impact to the labor market. In fact, with demand for goods and especially services still relatively strong amidst the current conditions, it stands to reason that the Fed could continue to be "hawkish" in their stance on interest rates provided it does not have the desired and perhaps needed effect on the labor market that has been seen in previous inflationary phases.

In determination of MAMB allocations, our economic modeling highlights the current data environment, Federal Reserve policy changes and potential effects on the interest rate curve. Our analysis of the most recent set of indicators has identified "contraction" as the prevailing phase. The current environment has driven the Fund to be dynamic and creative in its search to attempt to be less correlated to the traditional bond market indices.

At Monarch Funds, we appreciate your continued support of MAMB. The Fund will continue to be active in its asset class repositioning as it attempts to reduce overall sensitivity to the volatile macroeconomic environment outside our doors. Data that is scrutinized monthly will continue to cut a path for us in determining those allocations.

Thank you for your continued partnership.

IMPORTANT RISK INFORMATION

Past performance does not guarantee future results. The Fund's net asset value and investment return will fluctuate based upon changes in the value of its portfolio securities. There is no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective, and an investment in the Fund is not by itself a complete or balanced investment program. For a complete description of the Fund's principal investment risks please refer to the prospectus.

The Fund seeks positive absolute returns. Fund holdings may fluctuate in value in response to the activities of individual companies and general market and economic conditions. While the shares of ETFs are tradable on secondary markets, they may not readily trade in all market conditions and may trade at significant discounts in periods of market stress. ETFs trade like stocks, are subject to investment risk, fluctuate in market value and may trade at prices above or below the ETFs net asset value. Brokerage commissions and ETF expenses will reduce returns.

The underlying ETFs are subject to investment advisory and other expenses, which will be indirectly paid by the Fund. ETFs are subject to issuer, fixed income and risks specific to the fund. The underlying ETFs will invest in fixed income securities, including US Government securities, which are subject to changing financial and interest rate conditions. Issuers may not make principal payments resulting in losses to the Funds. Market conditions could cause these securities to fall in tandem, creating correlation risk.
